

Great Airships Supplement Work of Patrol Boats Along British Coasts

Aside from the constant patrol of the English coasts by boats, airships are now being used in the eastern precincts of the British Isles to watch out for U-boats and enemy aircraft. Here are two of them starting out for a day's vigil in the air. These airships are equipped with signalling apparatus so that from various points along the shore they can pass the word quickly if either under-sea craft or aeroplanes are in sight. They are in operation day and night, moving up and down the coast—sometimes venturing over the North Sea of the British Channel. The airships resemble the Zeppelins at a distance but are not of rigid construction. They have a great speed and can remain in the air for hours.

ENGLISH AIR-MEN RAID KARLSRUHE.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—A successful daylight air raid has been made on Karlsruhe, according to a British official communication issued Monday night.

The text of the statement says: "To-day our squadrons carried out a most successful raid into Germany in broad daylight, their objectives being the railway station and munitions factories at Karlsruhe. One and a quarter tons of bombs were dropped with excellent results. "Bursts were observed on buildings and sidings of the main railway junction in the center of the town, on railway workshops and a smaller junction in the town.

"Observers reported a large fire was started in factories along the railways, which was confirmed by photographs taken after the raid.

"The anti-aircraft fire was very heavy and accurate over the objectives and several hostile machines attacked on formation without success. All our airplanes reached their objectives and returned safely. "Bombing and attacks with machine fire from low altitudes were carried out incessantly Sunday. More than 400 bombs were dropped on a large ammunition dump near Roulers and on hostile billets, huts and railway junctions.

"A party of the enemy engaged in extinguishing a large fire attacked by machine gun fire was scattered and the fire was left to run at will. "In combats seven hostile machines were driven down out of control. Another was forced to land intact behind our lines by anti-aircraft fire; the pilot was captured. Three of our machines are missing. "During Sunday night our night-flying machines dropped bombs on Roulers and Menin. All returned safely."

THE GIST OF IT.

"Last December I had a very severe cold and was nearly down sick in bed. I bought two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it was only a very few days until I was restored to health," writes O. J. Metcalf, Weatherby, Mo. If you would know the value of this remedy, ask any one who has used it. Obtainable everywhere. (adv-jan)

ARREST CHANGES SENTIMENTS OF ANTI-AMERICAN.

From a boastful pro-German to a loyal American citizen is the change that has taken place since November 3 in J. H. Brandon, Courtland, Kas., on a charge of violating the act by Federal agents at Concordia, Kas., on a charge of violating the espionage act. Brandon asked Fred Robertson, district attorney on the Kansas side, to dismiss the charge.

Brandon admits saying: "I am a German spy and the Kaiser's right hand man in this section. You damned Americans have to be drafted. If Uncle Sam had to depend on volunteers he wouldn't get enough for a firing squad.

"I'll bet the Kaiser is the next president of the United States."

Brandon, out on $2,500 bond, told Mr. Robertson some persons at Concordia had been tormenting him and he spoke in the heat of argument.

Mr. Robertson refused to dismiss the charge.

TAILORS MAKE SPECIAL POCKETS FOR PENNIES.

Your Uncle Sam is taking a penny here, and a penny there, in war tax on most everything. The tax, a penny, is insignificant in individual cases, but the grand total of the revenue runs up in the millions.

On the Pacific coast and in Alaska, where the penny was spurned as too insignificant, they are finding wide use for the little copper coins.

As a result of the national demand tailors and cutters for the big ready-to-wear firms are planning a new wrinkle to help popularize their clothes. It is a penny pocket similar to, and to take the place of car-ticket pocket, that has fallen into neglect and disuse.

WOMEN OF SEDENTARY HABITS

Women who get little exercise are likely to be troubled with constipation and indigestion and will find Chamberlain's Tablets highly beneficial. Not so good as a three or four mile walk every day, but very much better than to allow the bowels to remain in a constipated condition. They are easy and pleasant to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere. (adv-jan)

Certain member of Congress are modestly admitting that the President could have stronger men in his Cabinet.

AMERICAN DIMES AND NICKELS CURRENT IN FRANCE.

The little old thin dime has taken its place in France. Likewise the nickel, but the carfare coin hasn't the ready circulation of the dime.

In the American area Sammy insisted that his dime was worth half a franc and the French people now accept it along with the French, British, Belgian, Italian and Swiss coinage. Actually the dime is worth just a little more than the French 50 centime piece, and it looks about the same. Both are worth slightly less than the English pence, which goes by occasionally as a half franc.

SAYS OUR ARMY IS CLEANEST IN EUROPE.

That the United States army is the cleanest now in Europe was the assurance given American parents by Dr. W. T. Foster, president of Reed College, Portland, Ore., who visited the entire French front as the representative of the War Council of the Red Cross, in an address delivered in Chicago.

"I visited every camp in France where American soldiers are quartered," said Dr. Foster, "and I never saw any drunkenness. The morals of the American soldiers are good, too."

A few years ago a dry measure was almost without sponsors in the Kentucky Legislature, and now there is a rush to beat the other fellow to it.

Women Mail Carriers For Washington

Imagine the surprise to staid Washington when the diplomatic quarter awoke recently to the shrill whistle of the letter carrier and found the morning's mail had been delivered by a woman. The realization must have carried with it a deeper appreciation of what war is meaning to the United States, especially to the National Capital. Here are two of the first "mail women" of the District of Columbia, with their bundles of letters ready to "serve their notes." They are Mrs. Nellie M. McGrath and Mrs. Pernelia Campbell.

TRYING IT OUT.

Secretary McAdoo reports the receipt of $108 in currency offered as a conscience remittance by a man who wrote that he had at some previous time defrauded the Government. Examination of the money discovered the fact that it was counterfeit.

It is probable that "the man with counterfeit conscience" as he is called in Washington dispatches, was trying out a little counterfeit money with the intention of using his brand in case of its not being recognized as counterfeit by the examiners at the United States Treasury. It didn't stand the test. No doubt he will hesitate to use it in the light of the discovery.

McADOO ASKS RAILROAD WORKERS TO DO SHARE.

Director General McAdoo addressed an appeal to railroad officers and employees to do their utmost to maintain the nation's railroad service as a patriotic duty, saying "every officer and employee is just as important a factor in winning the war as the men in uniform who are fighting in the trenches."

He promised to consider labor problems "justly and fairly and at the earliest possible moment."

When Cupid marshals his forces he makes a better Court-martial than a Field Marshal.

It isn't every fellow who blows his own horn that can qualify as an army bugler.
